

Christmas is my favorite time of the year. I love waking up early and seeing all the presents under the tree. The lights sparkle, and it feels like magic is in the air. My family and I always eat a big dinner together on Christmas. On Christmas morning, my brother and I race to the tree to see what Santa brought us. We take turns opening presents so everyone can see what each person gets. I love giving gifts too because it makes my family smile. After all the presents are opened, we play with our new toys together and watch Christmas movies. What Christmas means to me is not just presents or food—it's being with my family. It's the time when everyone is happy and kind. We forget about being busy and just enjoy being together.
